Temps says editorially

"Publicity will have great advantages if it averts the Irritating problems containing the germs of future wars that secret treaties have implanted at certain points in Europe. It would be dangerous if it permitted diermany the means of organizing obstruction, for, as things are going at Berlin, we shall find arriving as German representatives the same tricky, shameless agents who collaborated in the preparation of the war and who drew up the Brest-Litovsk and Bucharest treaties. If the negotiations are secret they will strive to imitate Talleyrand; if they are public they will draw inspiration from Trotsky."
